DR. HILL IS REJECTED

Germany Does Not Accept Him as Ambassador.

WAS TOWER'S SUCCESSOR

The Objection to Dr. Hill Is Said To Be One Purely Personal to Emperor William—Affair Has Caused Surprise in Diplomatic Circles.

Washington, Marcr 26.—The German government has declined to receive Dr. David Jayne Hill in the capacity of American ambassador to succeed Charlemagne Tower, whose resignation has been accepted to take effect upon the qualification of his successor.

Dr. Hill is at present American minister to the Hague and was former ly first assistant secretary of state under the administration of Secretary Hay.

The objection to Dr. Hill is one purely personal to Emperor William, who has simply caused it to be made known that the American diplomatist is persona non grata to him. The reason for the emperor's objection is connected with the visit to America several years ago of his brother, Prince Henry, the ranking admiral of the German navy. Dr. Hill at that time was first assistant secretary of state and necessarily was brought in to official contact with the distinguished foreign visitors.

A perplexing feature of the case is presented by the fact that last November the German government let it be known that Dr. Hill would be cordially received as American ambassador to Berlin. At that time Ambassador Tower, against the president's wishes, resigned.

Dr. Hill was selected to fill this important vacancy for two reasons:

First, because of his high rank in the world of literature and diplomacy, and second, because his promotion would be in execution of Secretary Root's cherished plan for the application of civil service rules in the diplomatic service. For two years preceding, Dr. Hill had been American minister, first accredited to Switzerland and then to the Hague. He was engaged in monumental literary work covering the entire history of the world's diplomacy, and these two posts afforded exceptional advantages for the procurement of the great mass of matter required for the work. As that task neared completion, Dr. Hill found himself willing to abandon the field for the higher diplomatic post of Berlin, and as already stated, the German foreign office cordially responded to the usual cautious overtures from the state department here as to his availability for appointment as ambassador. So Wednesday's decision of the German emperor has come as a complete surprise to official Washington.

It is nevertheless final as far as Dr. Hill is concerned, for the etiquette that governs international relations does not permit of any question of the right of a sovereign to interpose an objection to the reception of any official who comes to his post in the extraordinary and personal character of ambassador.

Rhodes Scholar Drowned.

Oxford, England, March 26.—Ralph C. Many, a Rhodes scholar, from New Orleans, La., at Oxford, was washed off the rocks and drowned at Port Isaac, Cornwall, Tuesday. Ralph C. Many secured his appointment to Oxford in 1905. He was a student at Queens. A peculiar coincidence is the fact that A. K. Reed, 1904 Rhodes scholar from Louisiana, died in March, 1906, from meningitis.

Former Army Officer Dead.

San Francisco, March 26—Brigadier General Elisha Bailey, U. S. A., retired, died at the army general hospital, Presidio, Tuesday. He was attached to the medical department and his retirement took place twenty-two years ago. General Bailey was born at Westchester, Pa., eighty-four years ago.

MAY END TOBACCO WAR.

Agreement Reached Which May Terminate Existing Troubles.

Cincinnati, March 26.—An end to the night riding in the Kentucky White Burley district has been brought about through a formal agreement reached between the American Tobacco company and the executive committee of the Society of Equity in a conference at Winchester, Ky., according to apparently authoritative statements made here by members of the American Society of Equity.

Nearly $14,000,000 and the purchase of the entire crops of 1906 and 1907 on the one side, and no planting of a crop for the year 1908 on the other side, are points in the agreement.

Word is said to have been received by the executive committee of the Society of Equity on Monday afternoon from headquarters of the American Tobacco company in New York, that the company would buy the 1906 and 1907 crops at 16 and 18 cents per pound respectively.

The committee was sworn to secrecy and the report has been officially denied, but is nevertheless declared to be authentic.

CONTESTED ELECTION CASES.

Given Hearing by House Committee of Congress on Tuesday.

Washington, March 26.—The house committee on elections, No. 1, Tuesday gave a hearing in the South Carolina contested election cases of Dantzler against Lever, and Myers against Patterson. The contestants were represented by counsel, who maintained that the constitution of South Carolina, promulgated in 1895, was itself unconstitutional because in conflict with the reconstruction act of 1868, readmitting South Carolina to representation in congress. They advanced the further argument that everyone entitled to vote under the constitution of 1868 was entitled to vote now, and that being deprived of that privilege the elections of Messrs. Lever and Patterson were invalid.

In the case of Aaron Prioleau, who is contesting the seat of Mr. Legare, also of South Carolina, counsel on both sides agreed to rest on the briefs filed by them.

All the contestants are negroes.

TRY TO WRECK BRIDGE.

New Pennsylvania Railroad Structure Badly Damaged.

Perth Amboy, N. J., March 26.—An attempt to wreck the new Pennsylvania railroad bridge over the Raritan between this city and South Amboy, was made early Wednesday, when a charge of dynamite was exploded near one of the bridge abutments.

The bridge did not fall, although it was left in a condition regarded as unsafe for trains. The bridge was only recently completed.

About midnight Tuesday night the watchman, who was guarding the structure, saw two men prowling about it and kept them under surveillance for some time without discovering any evidence of mischief. About an hour after they were last seen, the dynamite was exploded.

Penrose's Condition Unchanged.

Philadelphia, March 26.—The condition of United States Senator Penrose was reported Wednesday to be unchanged from that of Tuesday night, when his physicians said the senator was "extremely ill." The three attending physicians Wednesday refused to discuss the senator's illness. Senator Penrose became ill about a week ago with grip which developed into facial erysipelas, congestion of the lungs and bronchitis. His kidneys are also affected.

Contracts Not To Be Renewed.

New York, March 26.—The New York Theater Managers' association has decided not to comply with the latest request from the Musicians' Mutual Protective union, members of which constitute probably all of the theatrical orchestras in New York. It has been decided that existing contracts will not be renewed and that next season theater managers will entertain contracts with a newly organized association of theatrical musicians.

STORMY TIME LIKELY

Republican State Convention at Nashville, Tenn.

SERIOUS SPLIT IS PREDICTED

Two Conventions May Result as the Outcome of the Fight Between the Evans and Brownlow Factions of the Party—Large Attendance.

Nashville, Tenn., March 26—The Republican state convention to elect presidential electors for the state and delegates for the state at large to the Chicago convention, was called to order here at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The convention promises to be the largest and stormiest for years.

The fight is between the Evans and Browlow factions of the party, and a serious split seems inevitable, and two conventions will result.

W. J. Oliver, the well known contractor, is a candidate for national committeeman.

A special Oliver train from East Tennessee arrived here at an early hour Wednesday morning with eight hundred men and two brass bands on board. The Oliver crowd has secured the capitol and every public hall in the city, and indications are that lively times are ahead.

The Evans people are in control, but the Brownlow faction may attempt to dominate by physical force.

FAMOUS THEATER BURNED.

Drury Lane, in London, Practically Destroyed by Fire.

London, March 26.—Drury Lane theater, one of the most famous in London, was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday morning.

The whole interior of the theater was destroyed, and the outside walls were badly damaged. The flames were first discovered about 4 o'clock in the morning bursting from the windows of the building. It was then too late to save the structure, which burned fiercely, despite all efforts of the fire brigade.

There was no loss of life. The theater had been closed since the pantomime season ended. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Drury Lane theater was first opened in 1663, burned in 1672 and reopened in 1674 with address by Dryden, who extolled its advantages in location. The burning of the third theater on the site took place in February, 1809. It was in the famous Drury Lane that Garrick, Kean, the Kembles and Mrs. Siddon used to act.

FLEET GOING TO CHINA.

Roosevelt and Cabinet Decide to Accept the Invitation.

Washington, March 26.—The battleship fleet will visit China as well as Australia and Japan, and will be home on Washington's birthday, so that President Roosevelt may participate in the welcome before his retirement from office, ten days later.

In deciding at the cabinet session Tuesday to accept the invitation extended by China, it was also determined that the limit of the social calls had been reached and that all other invitations, should any be extended, would be declined with appreciative and regretful thanks.

Stewart Goes to Senate.

Proctor, Vt., March 26.—John W. Stewart, of Middlebury, former governor of Vermont, was appointed to the United States senate by Governor Fletcher D. Proctor Tuesday to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Senator Redfield Proctor. Mr. Stewart's term will expire this coming fall.

Wins Rhodes Scholarship.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., March 26.—The Alabama committee on selection has announced the appointment of J. J. Rodgers, of Tuskegee, Ala., as a Rhodes scholar from Alabama, for the five-year period beginning Sept. 1, 1908. Mr. Rodgers is now a student at Washington and Lee university.

HON. W. J. NEEL DEAD.

Was Prominent Member of Georgia Legislature from Bartow.

Cartersville, Ga., March 26.—Hon. William J. Neel, representative from Bartow county and joint author of the state prohibition law, died at his home in this city Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Neel had been in delicate health for several years, and about two months ago he was attacked with a fatal malady, when his life was despaired of. However, he partially recovered from the attack and was thought to have been improving each day until Monday night, when a sudden turn was taken for the worse, which resulted in his death.

Mr. Neel was one of the most prominent and popular men of this county. He became famous as joint author of the Hardeman-Neel-Covington prohibition bill that was passed in the legislature last year. He was born in Bartow county in 1861. He was educated in Dahlonega, and received his legal training at the Georgetown law school, Washington, D. C. He served as private secretary to Judson Clements during the latter's term in congress.

KILLS CONDUCTOR.

Tramp Was in Turn Fatally Shot by Dying Man.

Augusta, Ga., March 26.—Official report received at the offices of the Charleston and Western Carolina railroad states that Conductor C. D. Swink, in charge of a combination train between Anderson and McCormick, S. C., was shot to death near Lowndesville by a tramp by the name of Brock.

Swink caught Brock beating a ride and forced him to pay fare to Calhoun Falls. At that point Brock got off the train and began abusing Swink. Swink struck at the tramp who drew a revolver and fired one shot, the bullet going through Conductor Swink's heart. After being wounded, and before falling, Swink pulled his revolver and fired two shots at the tramp, one bullet taking effect which caused Brock's death.

BRYAN LAID TO REST.

Funeral of the Late Florida Senator Takes Place.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 26.—The body of the late Senator William Jas. Bryan, of Florida, arrived on a special train at 12:45 p m. Tuesday over the Southern railway, accompanied by the special committee of eight United States senators.

The funeral train was met by Governor Broward, of Florida, and delegations of city and county officials and special committees from organizations of which the deceased was a member.

The body was taken to the home of his brother, N. P. Bryan, and the funeral took place at 3 o'clock Wednesday from St. John's Episcopal church.

Prince to Cross in Warship.

London, March 26.—The prince of Wales will cross the Atlantic this summer, when he goes to Canada for the celebration at Quebec, in one of the largest British cruisers, and this visit will be accompanied by another cruiser as an escort. The British Atlantic fleet will cross ahead of the cruisers, to be present and welcome the prince on his arrival.

Fatal Collision in Fog.

Memphis, Tenn., March 26.—One man was instantly killed, another probably fatally injured and five others badly hurt in a rear end collision between a work train loaded with laborers and a freight train on the Illinois Central railroad Tuesday. The accident occurred at New South Memphis and was caused by a dense fog which prevailed in this vicinity.

Atlanta Suicide in New York.

New York, March 26.—Charles P. Campbell, an engineer, who recently came here from Atlanta, Ga., took his life by shooting himself through the head Tuesday night in his place of employment on West Twenty-second street. It is said that Campbell brooded over the failure to secure employment in this city.

INDIANA DEMOCRATS

State Convention Assembled at Indianapolis.

TO NAME A STATE TICKET

Also to Select Delegates to the National Convention at Denver—Leaders of Party Enthusiastic—Bryan Seems To Be Favored.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 26.—The Indiana Democratic convention Wednesday entered upon its two days' work of adopting a platform, naming a state ticket and selecting delegates to the national convention at Denver, who, it is expected, will be instructed to vote for William Jennings Bryan for president.

The program as arranged before hand included a brief session of the convention at 11 o'clock, district meeting in the afternoon to select twenty-six delegates to the national convention and name convention committees and a night meeting at which all of the committees except the resolutions committee reported and the convention address delivered by Robert W. Miers, of Bloomington, former congressman from the second district.

The session Thursday will adopt a platform, name four delegates at large to the national convention and nominate a state ticket from the twenty-seven candidates, of whom seven are aspirants for the gubernatorial nomination. It is expected Mr. Bryan will be endorsed, and the delegates instructed to vote for him. The candidates for governor are Samuel M. Ralston, of Lebanon; Carroll E. McCullough, of Anderson; Thomas B. Marshall, of Columbia City; L. E. Slack, of Franklin; Thomas R. Kuhn, of Richmond; C. G. Conn, of Elkhart, and William O'Keefe, of Plymouth.

For lieutenant governor, the candidates are Frank E. Hering, of South Bend; William P. O'Neill, of Mishawaka, and Frank J. Hall, of Rushville. James Cox, of Columbus, is the only candidate for secretary of state. Marion Bailey, of Lizton, has no opposition for auditor of state as yet; and John Isenberger, of North Manchester, has no one in the field against him for state treasurer. The three candidates for attorney general are W. G. Lotz, of Muncie; Milton B. Hottel, of Salem, and Richard M. Milburn, of Jasper. Other offices to nominate for are reporter of the supreme court, judges of the supreme court and appellate court, state statistician and superintendent of public instruction.

The convention has brought to the city the largest crowd of Democrats that has gathered here since 1892. The hotels are filled. Leaders of the party express more confidence of success than has been heard from them in recent years.

On account of the election of a member of the national committee by the national delegates at Denver, much interest is being taken in their selection by the district meetings of state delegates. National Chairman Thomas Taggart, the present national committeeman from this state, is a candidate to succeed himself. The names most prominently mentioned from which the four delegates at large will be chosen are Benjamin F. Shively Warrum, of this city; Mayor Bookwalter of Evans, G. V. Menzies of Mount Vernon; Adam Heimberger, of New Albany; John E. Lamb, of Terre Haute, and Stokes Jackson, of Greenfield, chairman of the state committee.

In the primaries Tuesday evening in Indianapolis and Marion county, National Chairman Taggart's friends won a decisive victory, carrying almost every ward and township in the city and county, and selecting their delegates to the state convention.

Prime Minister's Condition.

London, March 26.—Premier Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman is steadily growing worse. The bulletin issued Wednesday morning says: "The prime minister had a good night, and a good sleep, but he is worse, and his condition gives cause for considerable

FIELD DAY SPORTS AT THE UNIVERSITY

Fine Program Will be Pulled Off at College Grounds Today.

AN AFTERNOON OF GOOD SPORT

The Exercises Promise to Eclipse Anything Ever Attempted at the University, and the Public is Invited to Be Present.

The citizens of Gainesville are cordially invited to attend the athletic exercises to be held this afternoon at 2:30 at the University. The program printed below shows the nature of the exercises, which will no doubt prove interesting to the spectators. No. 3 on the program may possibly be passed over, but the rest of the exercises will be given in their proper order.

The field sports are under the management of the Athletic Committee of the University. Of this committee Capt. Cox is chairman, and with his usual energy there is no doubt he will make the occasion an enjoyable one.

Owing to the generosity of the merchants of Gainesville some extremely handsome prizes are offered to the winners in the various events. These prizes are now on exhibition in Mr. Miller's window.

The Program.

The following will be the program:

1. Hundred-yard dash.
2. Throwing hammer with turn.
3. Wall-scaling contest, between teams of one non-commissioned officer and four men, uniformed and equipped as for drill. Teams to stand at mark twenty feet from wall, fully armed and equipped. Wooden wall, ten feet high closely jointed, with cap-piece four inches wide at top. Magazine of each rifle to be loaded with five blank cartridges. Entire team to get over, with arms, clothing and equipments adjusted in the position of a soldier, pieces at the order. Five shots to be fired by first man who sees over wall at a supposed enemy before any other man becomes exposed on top; the first man to reach the top to fire five more shots while sitting thereupon. The other fifteen shots to be fired from ground on other side by the three remaining members of the team; the non-commissioned officers and each member to fire five shots, and no more during the maneuver. Rifles not to be thrown over the wall or thrown from the top of the wall to the ground. Fingers of second man may be placed on top of wall preparatory to scaling before five shots are fired by the first man up. Guns to be held horizontal while firing.
4. Cracker-eating contest.
5. Running high jump.
6. Base ball throwing.
7. 220-yard dash.
8. Barrel race.
9. Running broad jump.
10. To be supplied.
11. Pole vault.
12. Cartridge race—same as a potato race except that blank cartridges are used instead of potatoes. The contestant to gather up five cartridges placed ten yards apart, placing each in the magazine of his rifle, fire same, throwing out the shells, locking piece and coming to the order and the position of the soldier.

13. 120-yard hurdle race. (three-foot hurdles.)
14. Tug of war.
15. Relay race—teams of five men, one man to be posted at scratch, and others at 100-yards along the course. The message to be carried by relays to a point 400 yards from scratch and returned by relays.

Mr. Coombs is Better.

Hon. Shields Warren, receiver of the United States land office, Thursday received a telegram announcing that Hon. J. N. Coombs, National Committeeman of the Republican party from Florida, who has been quite ill at his home in Apalachicola, is much better.

This will be gratifying information to the many friends of Mr. Coombs throughout the entire State, as his condition was considered serious at one time.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

RUN DOWN---TIRED

Gainesville People Who Are in This Condition are Asked to Read This Article.

There are many people in this vicinity at this season of the year who are all run-down, no strength—hardly able to drag about. Don't know what ails them.

We want to say to every such person that our cod liver preparation, Vinol, is the tonic reconstructor which they need. Vinol tones up the digestive organs, creates a healthy appetite, makes rich red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body to do its work. In this natural manner strength and vitality quickly replace weakness and lassitude.

Miss Rose Blair, president Sophomore Club, Kansas City, writes: "Last spring I was all run-down, nervous, irritable and could not sleep. I tried many medicines without benefit. Vinol was recommended. It was delicious and not at all like the greasy cod liver oil and emulsions I was used to. Vinol gave me a hearty appetite and restored me to perfect health and strength."

Vinol is recognized throughout the world as an unexcelled strength-creator for old people, weak, sickly women, delicate children and the convalescent.

JONESVILLE NEWS.

Jonesville, March 26.—Rev. Geo. T. Taylor filled his regular appointment here Sunday morning. Owing to illness in his family he returned to his home in High Springs Sunday evening. Rev. Taylor announced here Sunday morning that our next convention would be held at Mt. Pleasant. Each and every one is invited to attend. There will be refreshments served at the church on Saturday and Sunday, March 28th and 29th.

Miss Myree Collins of Tioga Bay spent last week with Mrs. T. R. Pickett. Miss Collins was en route to Madison, Fla., where she will attend college.

Miss Clem Pickett has returned home from Gainesville, after a week's visit to her friends, Misses Ethel and Mozelle Durst. She reports a fine time.

J. M. Pickett, who came South for the winter, made his departure Sunday morning, en route to his home at Colon, Mich.

H. A. Pickett made a flying trip to High Springs on Monday, returning Tuesday.

Misses Estella and Irene Miller spent last Wednesday with their aunt, Mrs. T. R. Pickett.

We regret to learn that Mrs. M. A. Miller is confined to her bed this week from mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Roland of Newberry are quite sad over the loss of their little baby, "D. G.," which died Saturday morning at 4 o'clock, and was buried at Jonesville cemetery at 4 o'clock that afternoon. Their many friends extend deepest sympathy.

Given Up to Die.

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." Why not let it help you? J. W. McCollum & Co.

The Picnic Committee.

The committees from the various Sunday schools of the city are requested to meet at the law office of Col. W. W. Hampton at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when arrangements will be made and the date fixed for a union picnic.

The picnic will be given a little earlier this year than in former years. The time and place will no doubt be decided upon today.

RIDERS BURN BARNS.

Torch Applied to One in Ohio and Another One in Indiana.

Cincinnati, O., March 26.—A small band of night riders burned two barns in the vicinity of Harrison, O., twenty-five miles west of Cincinnati, and one in Franklin county, Indiana, on Tuesday night.

The two barns near Harrison were owned by Carlisle Thomas and were large structures. Thomas owns about six barns in this vicinity. One of the barns burned contained a large quantity of tobacco while the other was empty.

After the barns had been destroyed a posse was immediately organized and the country for miles around was scoured in search of the night riders.

May Accept Another Post.

Guatemala City, Guatemala, Mch. 26—William F. Sands, secretary of the American legation at Guatemala City, and acting charge d'affaires will leave shortly for the United States, where it is understood he will accept another post. During the course of a recent speech Mr. Sands suggested that the Americans in Central America should form an association similar to that existing in China. Then, he said, it would be possible to exert more influence on the affairs of the Central American republics and to bring about conditions more satisfactory to all interests.

Listen

And remember the next time you suffer from pain—caused by damp weather—when your head nearly bursts from neuralgia—try Ballard's Snow Liniment. It will cure you. A prominent business man of Hempstead, Texas, writes: "I have used your liniment. Previous to using it I was a great sufferer from rheumatism and neuralgia. I am pleased to say that now I am free from these complaints. I am sure I owe this to your liniment." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Brownlow Faction for Taft.

Nashville, Tenn., March 26.—The Republicans of the fourth congressional district held two conventions at Lebanon, Tenn., Tuesday. The Brownlow faction nominated A. L. Garrison for congress and endorsed W. J. Oliver for national committeeman and Taft for president. W. J. Hodges and J. E. Oliver were chosen district delegates to the convention at Chicago. The H. Clay Evans faction endorsed Taft for president and Congressman Hale for national committeeman. J. P. Renfroe and John J. Gore were selected delegates to the National convention.

Inquest on Averbach's Body.

Chicago, Ills., March 26.—Coroner Hoffman Tuesday commenced the taking of evidence in the inquest on the body of Lazarus Averbach, who was killed by Chief of Police Shippy three weeks ago after he had attempted to assassinate the chief. To prevent any demonstration by anarchists or reckless person, a strong guard was placed about the room in which the proceedings were held and all persons who were on the floor of the county building were closely watched during the proceeding of the inquiry.

Alice Roosevelt's Wedding

Was something to be recorded in the annals of history. Herbine has been acknowledged the greatest of liver regulators. A positive cure for bilious headaches, constipation, chills and fever, and all liver complaints. J. C. Smith, Little Rock, Ark., writes: "Herbine is the greatest liver medicine known. Have used it for years. It does the work." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Sims' Anti-Betting Bill.

Washington, March 26.—If the Sims anti-betting bill, which passed the house last Monday, is pushed in the senate as now appears likely, betting at Benning may be abolished before the end of the spring meeting.

Boat Sunk in Ohio River.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 26.—The steamer Columbia, towing a Marietta, O., show boat, was sunk at Lock No. 18, in the Ohio river above this city, Wednesday. The crew was saved, as were also the actors on the show boat.

PECULIAR PROPERTIES OF NEW MEDICINE

Cooper Preparation Attracts Widespread Attention by Expelling Internal Parasites.

The interest created in leading cities during the past year by young Mr. Cooper with his new preparation, is largely accounted for by a peculiar quality possessed by this medicine, which he calls his New Discovery.

Mr. Cooper believes that internal parasites, or tapeworms, are responsible for much ill health, and it is an undoubted fact that his medicine has expelled immense numbers of these creatures in various cities visited by him. The young man also believes that stomach trouble is the main cause of all ill health. He claims that few can have poor health with a good digestion. He further claims that his New Discovery medicine does nothing but tone up the stomach, yet it not only expels the parasites, but relieves many other ailments not as a rule associated with stomach trouble.

Little Jessie Birdsall, daughter of Mrs. Ida Birdsall, living at 2138 Carroll Avenue, Chicago, is among many relieved of a large parasite by Mr. Cooper's preparation during his stay in that city. In speaking of the matter to Mr. Cooper, the mother said: "My child Jessie, who is fourteen years old, has been suffering with this trouble for over seven years. Until this morning we did not know what the trouble was. She was extremely nervous; the least little thing would upset her; her tongue was coated, and at times she would have a good appetite, then again could not bear the sight of food; she was restless at night, had a bad breath, especially when she got up of mornings. We tried everything to relieve her, but met with no success. We were just on the point of giving up trying anything else, when we began to read of Cooper's New Discovery. Several days ago we purchased this medicine. Jessie has been using it regularly, and this morning this parasite left her system. I don't wonder that she has always felt bad, and nothing we would give her seemed to relieve her. Now that she is relieved of this tapeworm I feel sure that she will grow better each day, and enjoy perfect health. Mr. Cooper, your medicine is worth a thousand times more than you charge for it. I know of a number of people troubled the same way as Jessie has been, and I certainly expect to tell them personally to try your medicine."

We would advise anyone who has been troubled for some time with general poor health to try this great medicine. We are agent for it in this city. —J. W. McCollum & Co.

UNIVERSITY NOTES

Dr. Sledd left Wednesday morning for Jacksonville to attend the funeral of Senator W. J. Bryan.

After strenuous exertion, Capt. Cox succeeded in raising his flagpole. This pole weighs about three thousand pounds, and rises to a height of ninety feet. Several mishaps occurred before it was put into position. An inch and a half rope used in raising it was not strong enough and broke, and a large cogwheel snapped in two from the strain.

The last lecture given under the auspices of the University Extension Committee was by Dr. Schmidt. At both Dade City and at Brooksville he had fair-sized and attentive audiences.

The "Chapel Talk" this week was by Capt. Cox, who spoke on the "State Militia."

Capt. Morris and Capt. West, who came to Gainesville to inspect the local military company, were welcomed guests at the University on Wednesday morning.

Capt. Cox is making a short visit to Lake City.

Three of the Station staff are away. Professors Rolfs, Blair, and Floyd have gone to Daytona to take part in a Farmers' Institute. From there they will go to Jensen to hold another institute, and also to continue their pineapple experiments on Mr. W. H. Hardee's place. After that Prof. Rolfs will go to Miami, Prof. Blair to Dade City, and Prof. Floyd to DeLand. Prof. Floyd will make a study of a new citrus disease that has just made its appearance in that locality. The other two gentlemen are on Station business.

North Gainesville Party.

Col. and Mrs. W. H. Palmer, at their cozy home in North Gainesville, entertained a number of their friends Tuesday evening. There was a large crowd present, several attending from the city.

The feature of the entertainment was rather novel, being a "swapping" party. Each guest was supposed to carry a box containing some article, which was traded, or "swapped," for another, and the result in many cases was quite amusing.

The clever host and hostess proved themselves quite popular, as usual, and at a late hour the guests departed, feeling under obligations for the pleasure of the evening.

A Business Change.

W. G. Boltin, manager of the Coca-Cola Bottling Works, has purchased the interest of J. F. Haigler, secretary and treasurer of the firm, who has been associated with him since the establishment has been in business here.

Mr. Haigler has not yet definitely decided, but may return to his former home in South Carolina.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB.

Interesting Meeting, at Which Dr. Farr Delivered Fine Talk.

The Twentieth Century Club met on Monday, March 23, at the home of Mrs. Geo. K. Broome.

After the transaction of routine business, Mrs. Tench, the leader for the afternoon, introduced Dr. Jas. M. Farr, of the University of Florida, who had consented to read a paper before the club.

Dr. Farr began by giving a rapid sketch of the salient features of English literature as distinguished from the other literatures of the world. Its unique place is due to the wonderful continuity of production from the splendid beginning of the eighth century to the voluminous output of our own age. Yet this continuity is not of uniform excellence nor of hopeless mediocrity; it has been along what the scientists call the lines of wave-motion. Great epochs have occurred at fitful intervals, which, however, have always been at times in which the political and intellectual life of the nation has been most active and vigorous. Five times in the history of this literature has the crest of the wave been reached, which times may be called the ages of Beowulf, Chancer, Shakespeare, Milton, and of Eliot and Tennyson.

Taking only the greatest writers of each of these most glorious ages and considering these the mouthpiece of their times, the speaker proceeded to discuss the "Evolution of the Ideal Woman in English Literature."

He showed how, in the Anglo-Saxon Beowulf, we find women pictured as the queen of the household, delighting in her domestic duties, seconding her lord's hospitality, and surrounding her family with loving care. Here at the very beginning are seen all those qualities of mind and soul which later on are developed in our literature to perfection.

Passing on he selected Guselda as Chancer's ideal of woman. And this ideal woman is still not only the faithful wife, discharging her domestic duties in simple loyalty, but she is also the suffering woman, one capable of patient resignation and devoted love—the old ideal more fully developed and in a higher state of perfection. The emotional element has been added to the purely domestic, the tentonic conception enlarged and ennobled by pain and suffering. But she is still subjected to the so-called lords of creation.

After characterizing with light touch the greatest heroines of Shakespeare's creation, he selected Portia as the ideal woman of the sixteenth century. In the "Merchant of Venice" we see woman at home fulfilling her duties with exquisite refinement, grace and dignity; we see her flushed with emotion, with all the tender tmeness of a womanly women; we see her burning with eloquence, endowed with the highest order of imaginative and reflective powers—domestic, emotional, intellectual. The Elizabethan ideal has developed along lines of intellect. Shakespeare has given all his women rare and delicate minds and the powers of imagination and thought in their subtlest feminine form. His woman is the equal of man.

Milton's Eve next claimed his attention. Here the ideal woman appears as she was fashioned by God's own hand. In the alembic of Milton's own mind, the ideals of the eight, fourteenth, and sixteenth centuries have been distilled to form the purified ideal of the seventeenth, and we have the domestic, emotional intellectual woman, conceived as existing in a state of perfect purity.

Of all George Eliot's heroines, Romola is, in Dr. Farr's opinion, the ideal woman of the nineteenth century. Here the process of evolution is complete. To the domestic, emotional, intellectual, elements has joined the moral, through sorrow to service, she has gained the crown.

Thus through all our literature we see our ideal as the queen of the household. First, the woman in her home discharging her duties in honest, faithful fashion, simple and service-like—the architectural conception; next, this woman endowed with human love and endurance, with color and form—the pictorial ideal; then she is placed by the man with all her suitable charm of intellect and imagination—a strain of sweetest music; again we see her in all the spotlessness of her original creation—the sculptured purity of whitest marble; finally, we have her elevated to her true position—the moral force which rules the world—a living poem where Truth is Beauty, and Beauty Truth.

In conclusion, that note of warning which Tennyson sounded so gracefully—the danger of the evolution passing beyond its natural development and founding a monstrosity. In the Princess is pictured the woman, endeavoring to carry her supremacy in the moral world over into the intellectual by crushing her emotional and domestic qualities. She secludes herself from the world and its duties to devote her life to study and research. But she misses her wounded suitor, learns to love, and finally weds. Thus the equilibrium is restored, and she returns to our ideal.

At the conclusion of Dr. Farr's address, light refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be on April 13th, at the home of Mrs. W. B. Taylor, with Mrs. J. L. Kelley as leader.

FLORIDA IN SUMMER.

Most of my adult life has been spent in the two States of Ohio and Iowa. Twenty-five years since, while in Ohio, I began to think I should enjoy living in a climate where extreme cold is never to be feared. I then made some inquiries about things in Florida. But circumstances prevented my removal, till now at last I am a resident here.

The decision made, I purposely came South in April, to test the climate during the supposed hot season, before bringing my family. If I could weather the months from April to September, it seemed that the cooler months need present no important problem. I have now been here four months. April I found corresponded to June in the North, and May seemed a continuation of April. June (here) was like July North, and July has been scarcely different from June. Both months have been characterized by frequent and sometimes heavy rains, usually of short duration. These have so cooled the air that I do not remember any June and July at the North which were to be compared with the same here, as to coolness and comfort. The temperature has at times run high—ninety-eight degrees in the shade being the maximum. But the prevailing range has been in the eighties. The other day I felt the heat unusually—there being at the time no breeze. But the mercury stood at eighty-four degrees. And even as I went to look a cool breeze set in which banished all thought of discomfort. Old residents regard the summer months as the most pleasant of the year.

I also wished to test the degree of annoyance from insects—supposing that mosquitoes, sand-flies, and all that sort of thing would be well nigh unendurable. Judge of my surprise to find most of the houses without screens, and to be able to sit in a room with doors and windows open at night, and a bright light within, without so much as one insect entering. I do not think I have seen a dozen mosquitoes in the four months. There are house-flies, but so few as to occasion little or no annoyance. The only annoying insect with wings is a very minute gnat which never bites, but seems bent on suicide in one's eyes. These are kept off by a touch of any strong perfume upon the mustache or eyebrows.

What I have here said applies to the high region which forms the backbone of the State. On either coast things are different. Our freedom from insects here is the more remarkable, because the whole region is full of lakes, large and small, which in Minnesota, for instance, would insure swarms of such pests.

I have also been surprised at the healthfulness of the country. In the four months I have been here not a single case of serious illness has occurred within several miles. There is no resident doctor—a doctor would starve. In six years the pastor of the only church at this point told me that he had only six funerals, three of which were cases of moribund Northerners who came too late.

On arriving, I was homesick for a few acres of good Iowa or Ohio land. "Won't raise white beans" expressed my opinion of the ever-present sands. But visiting a friend, I found him in April shipping off a very paying crop of string beans and early tomatoes. He would immediately plant corn to succeed, and when the corn should be ready to harvest the whole plat would be grown up to a native forage plant, a sort of clover, called beggar-weed, which would yield two tons per acre of excellent hay. This plant seeds itself, and obligingly keeps under ground till wanted.

The three crops would figure: beans and tomatoes, $30 per acre; corn from $10 to $30 per acre, and hay $30 to $40. (Imported hay is never less than $20 per ton.) The corn alone would pay for all the cost. I changed my opinions about sand. A few days ago my nearest neighbor sold his crop of oranges and grapefruit, growing out of this same sand, at $130 per acre cash in hand. Buyer assumes all risk, and gathers the crop. This is a net hundred dollars per acre.

The fruit is now about half grown. Sand is worth something. A third crop of Irish potatoes is now being planted in certain regions adapted to that vegetable. Sweet potatoes are planted almost when you please. I often eat from a yam (Tahitian), which reaches the weight of from ten to twenty-five pounds, and can hardly be told from a potato. It allows one to slice off what is wanted (in the ground), and grows right on. It requires only to be planted, nature does the rest. It is used as a shade for porches, being a climber.

There is a never-ending succession of fruits, including all our Northern fruits except the apple and the raspberry, and many of which we know nothing in higher latitudes. To say that a well-ripened grapefruit excels the finest strawberry, is to tell the simple truth.

The month of May saw watermelons and cantaloupes go hence by carloads, and yet left the fields covered with equally good fruit, as fine as we grow North, but too small for the Florida standard. After the whole population has done its best to absorb these, the ground is still seemingly covered. Tons of pears are now going hence. Guavas follow.

Poultry raising is very easy, but the cost of grain keeps it back. Yet it is easy to raise all the grain needed, and there are many forms of feed peculiar to the South. Among these is cassava, a root-crop of which fowls are very fond, and chufas, a small patch of which will keep a large flock.

Among fruits I forgot to mention pineapples, of which Florida grows the best in the world. Many are grown in this region.

Land is comparatively cheap. Aside from special values on account of position, I know of no part of the country where a poor man can buy a farm so cheaply. Material for fencing is usually found on the land. Pasture costs nothing, and dairy products are double the price North. There are many excellent cows, and beef cattle range the whole State.

The water is easy of access everywhere (driven-wells being used), and is perfectly pure and soft in this vicinity. The lake water is equally good, and many use it in preference.

I have no financial or other desire to stir up a Florida fever; but there are many who would do well to inquire into the advantages of this State as a home.—John K. Nutting, in The Ohio Farmer.

THE MAN AND HIS JOB

By Herbert J. Hapgood.

When you see a job you want, stick to it till you get it. Many men are apt to get discouraged when told there is nothing in the man line. You cannot expect to secure a position by sticking your head through the door marked "Private" and saying: "Want a man today?" just as though you were selling fish. You must get the old man's attention, interest him and stay with him till you get the job.

Persistence is absolutely necessary in securing a coveted position. I remember a particular clever traveling salesman, now general manager of one of our largest electrical concerns, who devoted a whole week to apply for this position. The president was one of those irksome busy men who are not only hard to see but unpleasant when you see them. The applicant did not seem to mind, though, and kept on calling in a perfect unruffled manner as fast as he was turned off and thrown down. Other men applied who got "huffy" or lost courage by this treatment, but this persistent applicant had made up his mind not to be beaten, and when the president saw that he would stand for "throw-downs" as fast as he could hand them out, he made up his mind that this was the man he wanted.

Such a stick-to-it-man is bound to impress an employer, and a man with nerve like that is sure to get along.

.....WILD HORSES.....

(From The New York Tribune.)

Wild horses by the thousands are overrunning the Government National forests of Nevada and neighboring States, and the authorities in Washington are besieged with petitions from stockmen and farmers begging them to put a stop to the nuisance. A recent dispatch from Reno conveyed the intelligence that there are fifteen thousand of the untamed beasts upon the Toiyabe, Toquina and Monitor forest reserves in Landor county alone, and that orders have been received by the forest rangers to begin a systematic war of extermination upon them. This dispatch, although twisted as to facts, does not exaggerate the number of horses now supposed to be roaming at large in the districts mentioned. As a matter of probable truth there are a good many more than fifteen thousand wild horses in Nevada and the neighboring States, and every herd is a pest to the owners of vegetation and domestic stock.

The part of the Reno telegram which is not true is that relating to the order sent from Washington. Neither the forest rangers nor any other employees of the Government have been told to destroy the horses, and unless they do receive such orders they will confine their energies to fencing crops from the trespassing animals or rounding them up when they appear and threaten damage to the range. Indeed, if half the stories brought to the capital are true, all the rangers in Uncle Sam's service would have little chance of destroying the big herds that are roaming over the Western States.

Within the last few years they have increased to such an extent that in many localities they are classed as "varmints," with wolves, wildcats and grizzlies, and every man's rifle is turned against them. No fence is strong enough to stop these horses, and when they appear in force they have even been known to knock down and kill cows and calves. After each visitation from a herd the ranchman is likely to mourn the loss of his domestic horses, and it requires only a few days' association with their new companions for the best-broken animals to become as wild as their nomadic comrades.

A study of the wild-horse problem brings to light many interesting facts about the animals. The Legislature of Nevada, it seems, passed a law many years ago specifically allowing hunters to shoot wild horses and to sell their hides for what they could get in the open market. The law opened the way to a new and unusual industry, and many men found the killing of wild horses very profitable. Besides, the work was exciting and gave the business the added zest of sport.

As time went on and the business of killing these "outlaws" (as the wild horses were often termed) on the ranges assumed greater and greater proportions, stockmen found that the professional hunters were, in many cases, abusing their rights and were killing branded and shod horses. This put an end to the business, for on complaint of the stockmen the Nevada Legislature promptly repealed the law. It is estimated that 15,000 animals were killed during the time that the law was in force. This figure gave the basis for last week's story.

The report, however, had good basis of fact, for the wild-horse question has grown to be as serious in the last few years as it was when the Nevada legislature was forced to enact the old law. The United States Forest Service has not given orders for the killing of a single horse, because it has no right to do so. The forest officers of the Navada National forests realize how bad conditions are, and will do anything to assist the stockmen to put down the nuisance.

Anyone who finally discovers an effective method to settle this problem will have done a great service for the stockmen of every State west of the Missouri river. As an old and experienced stockman, now in the employ of Uncle Sam, said of this wild-horse problem: "Theoretically it seems a very simple matter to handle, but practically it is quite the reverse." On the ranges of many of the National forests the supervisors have been at their wit's ends for several years trying to devise a method to meet the difficulty. Apparently an entirely satisfactory method cannot be found because of the inadequate estray laws now enforced in the different States. Under the circumstances, the following plan has been recommended to meet the conditions in the National forests:

"If the presence of the horses is seriously damaging the National forest ranges and public sentiment favors such action, the supervisor may, upon petition of a majority of the permittees of a grazing district, allow the horses to be gathered and disposed of according to the State or Territorial laws. In such cases the forest service will, upon recommendation from the supervisor, co-operate in the construction of corrals or fences for the purpose of capturing the horses.

"Forest officers may drive unpermitted horses from the National forests at any time, but if the owners of the horses are known and ownership acknowledged the owner should be allowed to adjust the matter by paying the grazing fee. If he refuses to apply for a permit, then a tresspass charge should be brought against him and the case conducted according to instructions.

"Unbranded horses may be handled according to the State estray laws, but forest officers cannot be allowed to gather such horses for the purpose of using or selling them, nor can they be allowed to collect any remuneration from any person for corralling unclaimed horses. The policy of the forest service will be, therefore, to co-operate with the stockmen of the State or Territorial authorities when they take the initiative in disposing of wild horses in the National forests, but the present laws and regulations do not admit of independent action by the forest service."

The wild-horse problem is only one of the many which stockmen have to contend with which the Government is trying in one way or another to solve on the ranges of the National forests. Predatory animals, such as wolves, coyotes, mountain lions and wildcats, do thousands of dollars' worth of damage to stock each year in all parts of the country. On some ranges forest officers have to contend with rustlers, who sometimes succeed in stealing the great part of the stock which the predatory animals do not kill. Poisonous plants are another nuisance which give the stockmen considerable trouble in many parts of the country.

Uncle Sam has always shown a disposition to co-operate with the stockmen in combating these nuisances; in fact, he is doing better than merely meeting the stockmen half way in the work. On many of the National forest ranges for the last year rangers and guards have been assigned to the work of hunting and trapping, with the sole aim of killing off the animals that prey upon stock. The work has met with marked success, and hundreds of wolves and coyotes have succumbed to the bullets and the poison of the hunters. Each animal killed means a decided saving to the sheep industry, for it is estimated that one wolf averages about $1,000 damage each year.

Forest officers are co-operating with the stock associations to stop the stealing of livestock and run the rustlers out of the country. The war on poisonous plants has been carried on for more than a year by the forest service, in co-operation with the bureau of plant industry, and, while the investigations have just been begun, it is already seen that their growth can be checked in many States.

If it is possible to check the wild-horse nuisance as easily as the other troubles which have bothered the stock interests, both the stockmen and forest officers will find the Western ranges rid of another serious drawback which helps to retard progress in the business.

A bad back means sick kidneys.

Neglect it, urinary troubles follow.

S. B. Lemons, cigar maker, living at 1211 Ashley street, Tampa, Fla., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of backache and disorder of the kidneys. Two or three times on account of the pain in my back I was unable to work for several days. The secretions of the kidneys were in a very bad condition, dark in color, and if allowed to stand would become of the consistency of jelly. I tried various remedies, taking what seemed like gallons of medicine and I also put on plasters, but nothing helped me at all until I got Doan's Kidney Pills upon the advice of a friend of mine, and using them according to directions they cured me in a very short time.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELTS' SPECIAL MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I call your attention to certain measures as to which I think there should be action by Congress before the close of the present session. There is ample time for their consideration. As regards most if not all of the matters, bills have been introduced into one or the other of the two Houses, and it is not too much to hope that action will be taken one way or the other on these bills at the present session. In my message at the opening of the present session and, indeed, in various messages to previous Congresses, I have repeatedly suggested action on most of these measures.

Child labor should be prohibited throughout the Nation. At least a model child-labor bill should be passed for the District of Columbia. It is unfortunate that in the one place solely dependent upon Congress for its legislation there should be no law whatever to protect children by forbidding or regulating their labor.

I renew my recommendation for the immediate re-enactment of an employers' liability law, drawn to conform to the recent decision of the Supreme Court. Within the limits indicated by the court, the law should be made thorough and comprehensive, and the protection it affords should embrace every class of employee to which the power of the Congress can extend.

In addition to a liability law protecting the employees of common carriers, the government should show its good faith by enacting a further law giving compensation to its own employees for injury or death incurred in its service. It is a reproach to us as a Nation that in both Federal and State legislation we have afforded less protection to public and private employees than any other industrial country of the world.

I also urge that action be taken along the line of the recommendations I have already made concerning injunctions in labor disputes. No temporary order should be issued by any court without notice; and the petition for a permanent injunction upon which such temporary restraining order has been issued should be heard by the court issuing the same within a reasonable time—say, not to exceed a week or thereabouts from the date when the order was issued. It is worth considering whether it would not give greater popular confidence in the impartiality of sentences for contempt if it was required that the issue should be decided by another judge than the one issuing the injunction, except where the contempt is committed in the presence of the court, or in other case of urgency.

I again call attention to the urgent need of amending the interstate commerce law and especially the anti-trust law along the lines indicated in my last message. The Interstate commerce law should be amended so as to give railroads the right to make traffic agreements, subject to these agreements being approved by the interstate commerce commission and published in all of their details. The commission should also be given the power to make public and to pass upon the issuance of all securities hereafter issued by railroads doing an interstate commerce business.

A law should be passed providing in effect that when a Federal court determines to place a common carrier or other public utility concern under the control of a receivership the attorney general should have the right to nominate at least one of the receivers; or else in some way the interests of the stockholders should be consulted, so that the management may not be wholly relegated to the man or men the failure of whose policy may have necessitated the creation of the receivership. Receiverships should be used, not to operate roads, but as speedily as possible to pay their debts and return them to the proper owners.

In addition to the reasons I have already urged on your attention, it has now become important that there should be an amendment of the anti-trust law, because of the uncertainty as to how this law affects combinations among labor men and farmers, if the combination has any tendency to restrict interstate commerce. All of those combinations, if and while existing for and engaged in the promotion of innocent and proper purposes, should be recognized as legal. As I have repeatedly pointed out, this anti-trust law was a most unwisely drawn statute. It was perhaps inevitable that in feeling after the right remedy the first attempts to provide such should be crude; and it was absolutely imperative that some legislation should be passed to control, in the interest of the public, the business use of the enormous aggregations of corporate wealth that are so marked a feature of the modern industrial world. But the present anti-trust law, in its construction and working, has exemplified only too well the kind of legislation which under the guise of being thoroughgoing, is drawn up in such sweeping form as to become either ineffective or else mischievous.

In the modern industrial world combinations are absolutely necessary; they are necessary among business men, they are necessary among laboring men, they are becoming more and more necessary among farmers. Some of these combinations are among the most powerful of all instruments for wrongdoing. Others offer the only effective way of meeting actual business needs. It is mischievous and unwholesome to keep upon the statute books unmodified a law, like the anti-trust law, which, while in practice only partially effective against vicious combinations, has nevertheless in theory been construed so as sweepingly to prohibit every combination for the transaction of modern business. Some real good has resulted from this law. But the time has come when it is imperative to modify it. Such modification is urgently needed for the sake of the business men of the country, for the sake of the wage-workers, and for the sake of the farmers. The Congress cannot afford to leave it on the statute books in its present shape.

It has now become uncertain how far this law may involve all labor organizations and farmers' organizations, as well as all business organizations, in conflict with the law; or, if we secure literal compliance with the law, how far it may result in the destruction of the organizations necessary for the transaction of modern business, as well as of all labor organizations, completely check the wise movement for securing business co-operation among farmers, and put back half a century the progress of the movement for the betterment of labor. A bill has been prezented in the Congress to remedy this situation. Some such measure as this bill is needed in the interest of all engaged in the industries which are essential to the country's well-being. I do not pretend to say the exact shape that the bill should take, and the suggestions I have to offer are tentative; and my views would apply equally to any other measure which would achieve the desired end. Bearing this in mind, I would suggest, merely tentatively, the following changes in the law:

The substantive part of the anti-trust law should remain as at present; that is, every contract in restraint of trade or commerce among the several States or with foreign nations should continue to be declared illegal; provided, however, that some proper governmental authority (such as the commissioner of corporations acting under the Secretary of Commerce and Labor) be allowed to pass on any such contracts. Probably the best method of providing for this would be to enact that any contract, subject to the prohibition contained in the anti-trust law, into which it was desired to enter, might be filed with the Bureau of Corporations or other appropriate executive body. This would provide publicity. Within, say, sixty days of the filing—which period could be extended by order of the department whenever for any reason it do not give the department sufficient time for a thorough examination—the executive department having power might forbid the contract, which would then become subject to the provisions of the anti-trust law, if at all in restraint of trade.

If no such prohibition was issued, the contract would then only be liable to attack on the ground that it constituted an unreasonable restraint of trade. Whenever the period of filing had passed without any such prohibition, the contracts or combinations could be disapproved or forbidden only after notice and hearing with a reasonable provision for summary review on appeal by the courts. Labor organizations, farmers' organizations, and other organizations not organized for purposes of profit, should be allowed to register under the law by giving the location of the head office, the charter and by-laws, and the names and addresses of their principal officers. In the interest of all these organizations—business, labor, and farmers' organizations alike—the present provision permitting the recovery of threefold damages should be abolished, and as a substitute therefor the right of recovery allowed for should be only the damages sustained by the plaintiff and the cost of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee.

The law should not affect pending suits; a short statute of limitations should be provided, so far as the past is concerned, not to exceed a year. Moreover, and even more in the interest of labor than of business combinations, all such suits brought for causes of action heretofore occurred should be brought only if the contract or combination complained of was unfair or unreasonable. It may be well to remember that all of the suits hitherto brought by the Government under the anti-trust law have been in cases where the combination or contract was in fact unfair, unreasonable, and against the public interest.

It is important that we should encourage trade agreements between employer and employee where they are just and fair. A strike is a clumsy weapon for righting wrongs done to labor, and we should extend, so far as possible, the process of conciliation and arbitration as a substitute for strikes. Moreover, violence, disorder, and coercion, when committed in connection with strikes, should be as promptly and as sternly repressed as when committed in any other connection. But strikes themselves are, and sould be, recognized to be entirely illegal. Combinations of workingmen have a peculiar reason for their existence. The very wealthy individual employer, and still more the very wealthy corporation, stand at an enormous advantage when compared to the individual workingman; and while there are many cases where it may not be necessary for laborers to form a union, in many other cases it is indispensable, for otherwise the thousands of small units, the thousands of individual workingmen, will be left helpless in their dealings with the one big unit, the big individual or corporate employer.

Twenty-two years ago, by the act of June 29, 1886, trades unions were recognized by law, and the right of laboring people to combine for all lawful purposes was formally recognized, this right including combination for mutual protection and benefits, the regulation of wages, hours and conditions of labor, and the protection of the individual rights of the workmen in the prosecution of their trade or trades; and in the act of June 1, 1898, strikes were recognized as legal in the same provision that forbade participation in or instigation of force or violence against persons or property, or the attempt to prevent others from working by violence, threat, or intimidation. The business man must be protected in person and property, and so must the farmer and the wageworker; and as regards all alike, the right of peaceful combination for all lawful purposes should be explicitly recognized.

The right of employers to combine and contract with one another and with their employees should be explicitly recognized; and so should the right of the employees to combine and to contract with one another and with the employers, and to seek peacebly to persuade others to accept their views and to strike for their labor. Nothing should be done to legalize either a blacklist or a boycott that would be illegal at common law; this being the type of boycott defined and condemned by the Anthracite Strike Commission.

The question of financial legislation is now receiving such attention in both Houses that we have a right to expect action before the close of the session. It is urgently necessary that there should be such action. Moreover, action should be taken to establish postal savings banks. These postal saving banks are imperatively needed for the benefit of the wageworkers and men of small means and will be a valuable adjunct to our whole financial system.

The time has come when we should prepare for a revision of the tariff. This should be, and indeed must be, preceded by careful investigation. It is peculiarly the province of the Congress and not of the President, and indeed peculiarly the province of the House of Representatives, to originate a tariff bill and to determine upon its terms; and this I fully realize. Yet it seems to me that before the close of this session provision should be made for collecting full material which will enable the Congress elected next fall to act immediately after it comes into existence. This would necessitate some action by the Congress at its present session, perhaps in the shape of directing the proper committee to gather the necessary information, both through the committee itself and through government agents who should report to the committee and should lay before it the facts which would permit it to act with prompt and intelligent fairness. These government agents, if it is not deemed wise to appoint individuals from outside the public service, might with advantage be members of the Execu

INSTANT RELIEF OF ITCHING HUMOR

Limbs Below the Knees Were Raw —Feet Too Swollen to Get Shoes On—Sleep Completely Broken by Intense Itching and Burning—Well in Two Days and Says That

CUTICURA IS AMONG HIS HOUSEHOLD GODS

"God bless the man who first compounded Cuticura. Some two months ago I had a humor break out on my limbs below my knees. They came to look like raw beefsteak, all red, and no one knows how they itched and burned. They were so swollen that I had to split my drawers open to get them on and could not get my shoes on for a week or more. I used five or six different remedies and got no help, only when applying them the burning was worse and the itching less. One morning I remembered that I had a bit of Cuticura and tried it. From the moment it touched me the itching was gone and I have not felt a bit of it since. The swelling went down and in two days I had my shoes on and was about as usual. I only wish I had used the Cuticura Remedies in the first of my troubles. They would have saved me two or three weeks of intense suffering. During that time I did not sleep an hour at a time, but was up applying such remedies as I had. Henceforth the Cuticura Remedies will be among my household gods, rest assured. George B. Farley, 50 South State St., Concord, N. H., May 14, 1907."

PRES. ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS.

tive Department, designated by the President, on his own motion or on the request of the committee, to act with it.

I am of the opinion, however, that one change in the tariff could with advantage be made forthwith. Our forests need every protection, and one method of protecting them would be to put upon the free list wood pulp, with a corresponding reduction upon paper made from wood pulp, when they come from any country that does not put an export duty upon them.

Ample provision should be made for a permanent Waterways Commission, with whatever power is required to make it effective. The reasonable expectation of the people will not be met unless the Congress provides at this session for the beginning and prosecution of the actual work of waterway improvement and control. The Congress should recognize in fullest fashion the fact that the subject of the conservation of our natural resources with which this commission deals, is literally vital for the future of the Nation.

Numerous bills granting waterpower rights on navigable streams have been introduced. None of them give the Government the right to make a reasonable charge for the valuable privileges so granted, in spite of the fact that these waterpower privileges are equivalent to many thousands of acres of the best coal lands for their production of power. Nor is any definite time limit set, as should always be done in such cases. I shall be obliged hereafter, in accordance with the policy stated in a recent message, to veto any waterpower bill which does not provide for a time limit and for the right of the President or of the Secretary concerned to fix and collect such a charge as he may find to be just and reasonable in each case.

A severe cold that may develop into pneumonia over night can be cured quickly by taking Foley's Honey and Tar. It will cure the most obstinate racking cough and strengthen your lungs. The genuine is in a yellow package. J. W. McCollum & Co.

CHANGES HER RESIDENCE.

Mrs Alf. Vanderbilt Will Not Occupy Oakland Farm This Summer.

New York, March 26.—It became known here Wednesday that Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt has removed her personal effects from Oakland Farm, Newport, her husband's country home. Her home during the summer, it is understood, will be at the residence of her brother, Amos Tuck French, at Tuxedo. Mr. Vanderbilt, who recently came to New York from London, is now at the Hotel Plaza. It is said he will return to London soon and occupy a house he has rented for the season.

The announcement that Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt will not make Newport their home this summer has occasioned much surprise.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was Miss Elsie French, daughter of the late Francis Ormond French, president of the Manhattan Trust company, and director in many railroads. She married Mr Vanderbilt in January, 1900, after he had been graduated from Yale a year. William, their only child, was born in 1901.

Alfred Vanderbilt inherited upwards of $60,000,000 from his father, the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. Much of his time has been spent abroad during the past year.

Status of Porto Rican Soldiers.

Washington, March 26.—The bill introduced by Mr. Hull, of Iowa, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, to establish the status of the Porto Rican regiment as a part of the regular army of the United States, was voted on favorably by that committee. The committee so amended the bill that native Porto Ricans shall not hold in the regiment a rank higher than that of captain.

General Manager Resigns.

Louisville, Ky., March 26.—Having completed a service of more than 20 years as general superintendent of the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis Railroad company, A. M. McCracken has tendered his resignation effective April 1. Mr. McCracken will be succeeded by Lucien J. Irwin, the present general freight and passenger agent of the Henderson route.

MUNICIPAL POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR MARSHAL.

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for re-election as City Marshal at the election April 14th, 1908. I have endeavored to perform my duty without fear or favor, and would appreciate the support of my fellow-citizens, promising the same attention to the duties of the office in the future as in the past. Thanking you for past support, and soliciting your votes at the coming election, I am,

Very truly,
BEN T. ARNOW.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for City Marshal in the election to be held on the 14th day of April, 1908. I promise if elected to endeavor to do the duties required by the ordinances as near as I possibly can, and I solicit the votes of all law-abiding citizens.

Respectfully,
CHAS. PINKOSON

To the Voters of Gainesville—I take this method of announcing my candidacy for Marshal of the City of Gainesville. I have been on night work as an officer, protecting you and your interests while you were asleep, for about three years, and leave it to you as to whether I have performed my duty well, and with impartiality. I think I have been long enough at night work to be entitled to a day job, and if elected I promise you a faithful, impartial and efficient service. Yours for order.

C. L. KITE.
